MINORS' CONTRACTS SUBJECT OF NEW REPORT

The Institute of Law Research and Reform has issued a report which recommends that there should be a new law regulating the contracts of people under 18 years of age.

The Institute thinks that the law should be less complex and that the courts should have more power of adjustment to ensure fairness. At present a seller is entitled to be paid for "necessaries" supplied to a minor, but he may not be able to tell whether the goods really are necessary. In other cases it is hard for either side to know whether a contract is not binding at all, or whether it is binding until set aside, and the difference can be important. The courts at present have no power to make adjustments and may have to choose a result which is harsh to one side or the other.

The Institute's Majority Report would allow an adult to enforce a contract against a minor if he had good reason to think it fair in itself and in the circumstances of the minor. No other contract would be enforceable against the minor, but the court would have the power to adjust the rights of the adult and the minor by requiring either one to pay money or return property. A Minority Report, however, would prefer not to provide for any class of enforceable contracts and would allow the courts to adjust the rights of the parties in all cases.

The Institute's report deals with many incidental matters. Guarantors of minors' contracts would be required to honor their guarantees and would be able to recover from the minor whatever the court thought was fair. If a minor did not repudiate the contract within a year of his eighteenth birthday he would be bound by it. Even if the minor lied about his age, the new law would apply to the contract. The court could, if necessary, validate a contract and make it enforceable.

The Institute's report has been forwarded to the Attorney General.

The architect and the prime consultant have placed special emphasis on the aesthetics of a stack for the South Power Plant, in an attempt to make it a more pleasant visual object than such structures have been historically. The foundation of the 180' stack will be contained inside the stack and the exterior will be aluminum, a shiny finish that will make the stack appear smaller than it is. High-intensity lighting will be trained on the stack, making it visible enough to satisfy the Ministry of Transport and negating the need for the traditional red and white stripes.

SPECIAL COLLOQUIUM

A Department of Mathematics colloquium on "Waiting times without memory" will be held Thursday, January 30 at 4 p.m. in 657 Central Academic Building. The speaker will be S.G. GHURYE of the Division of Applied Meditation, Institute for Advanced Meditation. Dr. Ghurye also is Chairman of the department.

The colloquium will deal with the following problem: Let $f(x)$ be a monotone, non-increasing, right-continuous function on the reals with $f(x) = 1$, $x \leq 0$, and $f(\infty) = 0$. Let P be the probability measure on the Borel sets of the real line, which is defined uniquely by $P\{a,b\} = f(a) - f(b)$ for all a,b such that $a < b$, and let A be a set with $P(A) = 1$ such that $s,t \in A \Rightarrow f(s+t) = f(s)f(t)$. What are all possible pairs (A,f) satisfying these conditions?

Anyone who is able to provide the complete solution by noon of January 30 will have the privilege of giving the talk, and will receive a fee of $20 (a very generous honorarium, considering the level of the problem). If there is more than one successful claimant, the privilege and the fee will be partitioned equally among them. NOTE: Copies of some of the speaker's recent research output are on display in the lounge.

Coffee and cookies will be served in the staff lounge at 3:30 p.m. the day of the colloquium.

BROADUS LECTURES SCHEDULED

The 1975 Edmund Kemper Broadus Lectures will be given February 4 through 6 by NORMAN PAGI, Associate Professor of English.

The theme of this year's series is "Thomas Hardy: facts and problems." The lecture titles are "The unknown Hardy," "Pictorialism in the Wessex novels," and "The contraption and the guy: Hardy's poetry." The lectures will be delivered each day at 4 p.m. in lecture room 3, Audiovisual Centre, Humanities Centre.

Dr. Broadus was the University's first professor of English, and the Department of English sponsors the series in his honor.

METRIC CONVERSION

A committee has been established to co-ordinate the University's participation in conversion to the metric system. Known as the "University of Alberta Metric Conversion Committee," its purpose is "to share information about, and where necessary to co-ordinate, programs or activities related to metric conversion on campus and to provide a mechanism for sharing materials for use in such programs." The committee will report to the Associate Vice-President (Academic), WILLARD ALLEN.

Membership on the committee is as follows: Agriculture and Forestry. B.T. Stephanson, 432-4931.

Dentistry. D.J. Gau, 432-5761.

Education. W.F. Reese, 432-5417.

Engineering. F.D. Otto, 432-3571.

Household Economics. Z.J. Hawrysh, 432-3830.

Medicine. W. Maday, 439-5911 ext. 285.

Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences. T.W. Kassian, 432-4492 or 432-5996.

Science. W.E. Randall, 432-4765.

Campus Development Office. W.A. Hiller, 432-4966.

Personnel Services and Staff Relations. M.S. Cooke, 432-5204.

Physical Plant. J. Meredith, 432-4941.

Purchasing. M.A. Fawcett, 432-3436 or 432-3208.

Technical Services. W.H. Jopling (secretary), 432-3302.

The committee will name a chairman. Any questions concerning the committee should be directed to the Secretary (Mr. Jopling), 432-3302, or to Dr. Allen, 432-5682.

SHORT STORY CANADA

The Department of English, with the assistance of the Canada Council and the provincial government, is sponsoring a different kind of conference beginning Monday, January 27. Called "Short Story Canada," the conference will run for a full five days and will be attended by the following Canadian writers: BRIAN MOON, HELEN ROSTA, MERRA SUMMERS, KEN MITCHELL, CATERINA LOVERSO, FRANCES ITANI, ALICE MONRO, RAY SMITH, MAVIS GALLANT, KENT THOMPSON, and CLARK BLAISE. Local writers also are expected to take part.

The authors will read their short stories at open afternoon meetings and be accessible for conversations every lunchtime. There will be a program of events each evening with films, performances by the Théâtre Passe Muraille, and panel discussions. Tapes of stories by MORLEY CALLAGHAN, introduced and read by the author, will be available daily between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Programs are listed in "This Week and Next."

This conference is different in that no registration is required and all the events are free and open to everyone. The story readings, films, and evening events will take place in the Audiovisual Centre of the Humanities Centre. The public may meet the authors each day at lunch in Tuckshop II, HUB. There will be a reception in Lister Hall on Monday, January 27 at 5:30 p.m. and, again, everyone is invited. Cameron Library's display window on the ground floor is featuring books and stories by the authors who will be here.

The conference will end Friday evening, January 31.

PLUG-INS TURNED OFF TO CONSERVE ENERGY

The following information has been received from GORDON BULAT, Outside Plant Engineer in the Department of Physical Plant.

In an effort to reduce University costs and as part of an overall energy conservation program, the Department of Physical Plant has implemented a cycling program for the plug-ins in Stadium and Windsor carparks.

The program automatically turns power off and on at definite intervals between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays. It is during this period that the electrical demand on campus is at its peak.

Windsor Carpark plug-ins are switched off at 9 a.m. while those in Stadium Carpark remain on. At 9:30 a.m. those in Windsor are turned on and those in Stadium are turned off. This process is repeated on the hour and half hour. From 3 p.m. to 9 a.m. the following morning, the plug-ins in both carparks remain on.

The saving effected by this process is approximately $22,500 per year at the current electrical demand rate. Recent media announcements indicate that electrical rates in Edmonton are going to increase due to recent increases in natural gas rates.

University Parking Lot, 1923

In the 1973-74 fiscal year the electrical charge which can be attributed directly to plug-in service was $78,000. This charge can be reduced considerably, thus avoiding a significant rate increase to the user, by reducing the peak demand on the system when only a portion of it is energized at any one time. By cycling block heaters on and off, car engines should not get so cold they will not start.

As in past years a battery boosting service is available to permit holders from 3:30 to 6 p.m. weekdays, when temperatures are -10°F or colder. A call to 432-1212 will alert this service.

The policy of applying cycling plug-in service throughout the University campus is being investigated. It was installed in the carparks first because they are the only major electrical installations dedicated to the supply of parking needs only.

PEOPLE

STANLEY GREENHILL, Professor and Chairman of Community Medicine, served as a World Health Organization (WHO) consultant to the Medical Education Unit and Department of Social and Preventive Medicine at the University of Sri Lanka, Peradeniya campus, from July 1 to December 31, 1974. He was appointed an official Canadian delegate to the Commonwealth Health Ministers' Conference held in November in Colombo which dealt with health care in the developing countries. Dr. Greenhill also organized a southeast Asia WHO workshop on medication education for community physicians.

L.C. GREEN, University Professor on leave from the Department of Political Science, will be in Geneva, Switzerland from February 16 to April 16 as a member of the Canadian delegation to the Diplomatic Conference on Human Law in Armed Conflict.

The following Department of Sociology staff members chaired sessions or presented papers at the sixteenth annual meeting of the Western Association of Sociology and Anthropology, held in December in Banff: ROSALIND SYDIE, SHARON ABU-LABAN, CARLO CALDAROLA, JOHN YOUNG, MARILYN ASSHETON-SMITH, and A.K. DAVIS.

ANDREW CLARK, Associate Professor of Industrial and Vocational Education, has had a paper on the implications of typographic research for readability in engineering drawing accepted by Engineering Design Graphics. Another paper by Dr. Clark, on a method of collecting data for multidimensional scaling, has been accepted by Psychological Reports.

MALCOLM FORSYTH, Associate Professor of Music, has been commissioned to write a song cycle based on western Canadian folk music for contralto MAUREEN FORRESTER. It will be performed at the International Music Conference which is to be held this year in Canada.

JOHN R. WOZNY, Lecturer in Educational Psychology, presented a paper to the California Bar Association on cannabis use detection in humans. He also gave an address to the Scripps Oceanographic Institute at La Jolla.

JIM HACKLER, Professor of Sociology, has been invited to serve on the Graduate Record Exam Committee of the Educational Testing Service at Princeton University. The committee consists of five members who serve for two years.

RICHARD FRUCHT, Associate Professor of Anthropology, presented a paper on labor struggles in a plantation society at the first meeting of the Caribbean Studies Association in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

M. PLISCHKE of the Theoretical Physics Institute has been appointed Visiting Lector at the Institute of Theoretical Physics at the University of Leuven in Belgium for a two-month period which commenced January 15. While there Dr. Plischke is delivering a series of lectures at the research level to graduate students and academic staff members.

BOOKS

Population Growth Estimation: A Handbook of Vital Statistics Measurement by ELI S. MARKS, Professor of Operations Research at the Wharton School of Public Finance, University of Pennsylvania; WILLIAM SELTZER, Chief of Demographic and Social Statistics in the United Nations; and KAROL J. KROTKI, Professor of Sociology at The University of Alberta, has been published by the Population Council of New York and Key Book Service, Bridgeport, Connecticut (580 pp.).

VISITORS

PETER F. LESTER of the Environmental Sciences Centre, The University of Calgary spoke to a meeting of the Canadian Meteorological Society held on campus.

■ M.W. MC ELHINNEY, Australian National University, spoke at two Geophysics seminars held in the Department of Physics.

■ DAVID KLARNER, State University of New York at Binghamton, spoke at a colloquium held in the Department of Mathematics.

■ JOHN VAN RYZIN of the University of Wisconsin lead a colloquium in the Department of Mathematics.

■ MARGARET MC CULLY of the Department of Biology at Carleton University conducted a special seminar for the Department of Botany.

NOTICES

ARAB DAY

The Arab Students' Association will hold an Arab Day on Friday, January 24. Highlight of the day, which includes various displays of Arabic stamps, postcards, slides, movies, arts and crafts, as well as a literature table, is a public forum to be held at noon in the Students' Union Theatre. The forum will deal with the Arab-Israeli conflict, and will feature RABBI ELMER BERGEN, President of American Jewish Alternatives to Zionism, Inc., and TARIQ ISMAEL, Professor of Political Science, The University of Calgary.

Dr. Bergen is the author of several publications dealing with Judaism and Jewish nationalism, including A Partisan History of Judaism and Judaism or Jewish Nationalism. Dr. Ismael has authored works dealing with Arab politics, including Governments and Politics of the Contemporary Middle East and The UAR in Africa: Egyptian Policy Under Nasser.

The public is invited to the forum; admission is free.

EXTENSION COURSES

Management of Personal Finances

The Department of Extension will be sponsoring a course entitled Management of Personal Finances beginning February 11.

ROBERT GAWRELUCK will be conducting the course which will deal with such topics as the role of personal finance, personal and family budgeting, consumer credit, investments, insurance, wills and estate planning, an overview of the Income Tax Act, establishment of a small business, and consumer behavior. At the beginning of the course, students will be asked to identify areas of special interest to them.

Registrations are being accepted at 228 Corbett Hall. The fee is $40. The course will be held on 12 Tuesday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The Winter Worlds

Teachers, youth group and camp leaders, and others who work with children will have an opportunity to improve their skills and knowledge in the use of the outdoors as a classroom in Interpreting the Woods and Fields: The Winter Worlds, to be held February 1 and 2. The program will focus on interpreting nature's ecological relationships—diversity, adaption, change, and inter-relationships.

The course will be taught by JOY FINLAY, naturalist and outdoor consultant to elementary schools and outdoor leadership programs.

Registration deadline is January 28; the fee for the course is $18. Snowshoes will be available for the field trip. For additional information telephone 432-3035 or 432-3116.

Rock and Mineral Identification

The identification of rocks and minerals by observation and simple tests on specimens will be undertaken in the Rock and Mineral Identification course which begins March 4. Since the course is designed as an introduction, students will not be expected to have previous knowledge of the subject. The course will include lectures and laboratory sessions.

DONALD A. TAYLOR, former Curator of Geology at the Provincial Museum and now a Research Assistant for the University's Department of Geology, will conduct the course. He will present an introduction to crystals and their importance; physical properties of minerals; descriptions of minerals, their use and importance; gemstones, imitation and synthetic gems, and lapidary material; rocks, their origin, composition, identification, and uses; ore deposits, their source, occurrence, associations, and importance; and an outline of the geology of Alberta.

As in past years, the Department of Geology has generously permitted the use of specimens and equipment, as well as access to its museum for the course.

Registrations are being accepted in 228 Corbett Hall. The fee of $35 includes the textbook, Rocks and Minerals. Call 432-5061 or 432-3116 for additional information.

Fundamental Principles of Geology

Fundamental Principles of Geology is an eight-session course which begins March 4. It will be taught by KEN BABCOCK, Assistant Professor of Geology.

It will cover such topics as: rocks and minerals and the processes which form them; processes acting within the earth, folding of rocks, earthquakes, mountain building, and continental drift; geologic processes which have acted to modify the earth's surface, erosion, landslides, and glaciation, with an emphasis on the Alberta landscape; energy resources of Canada, petroleum, coal, uranium, the Athabasca oil sands; and geologic studies in urban planning.

The course will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The fee is $35. Registrations are being taken at 228 Corbett Hall; telephone 432-5061 or 432-3116.

PHYSICAL FITNESS TESTING AND CONSULTING CENTRE

The Faculty of Physical Education has announced the opening of the Physical folio accepts display advertising

Rates: the basic unit is 45 agate lines x 15 picas (3¼" x 2½"). The full page is divided into 9 such units, any combination of which can be used at a cost of $17.75 per unit. Discounts are available for extended runs; please enquire.

Other specifications: half-tones (100-line screen or less) are acceptable; no color or bleeds can be accepted. Deadline for submission of all copy is one week prior to publication (Thursday, 4 p.m.); positioning is at the discretion of the Editor.

Contact: David C. Norwood, 325 Assiniboia Hall, The University of Alberta; telephone 432-4991.

* Fitness Testing and Consulting Centre to students, staff, and the public again this year.
 * The Centre is located in E-412 Physical Education and Recreation Centre (fourth floor, east wing). It is open every Tuesday from 5 to 8 p.m. and every Thursday, 3 to 6 p.m.

The primary purpose of the Centre is to inform individuals about their present level of physical fitness and offer suggestions for personal improvement. They will undergo a battery of tests designed to determine cardiovascular fitness, general body strength, and degree of obesity. The data thus obtained will be analyzed and suggestions offered to the individual for a personal training program. A nominal fee of $1 (students 50c) will be charged. Medical certificates from registered physicians are required before testing can be authorized.

* Anyone interested in knowing his/her level of physical fitness should telephone 432-5601 (ask for DEBBIE or SHIRLEY) to make an appointment.

EDMONTON BUDDHIST SOCIETY

Anyone interested in Buddhism is invited to attend meetings of the Dharma Sangha on the second and fourth Fridays of each month. The next meeting will be held on January 24 at 8 p.m. at 11526 77 Avenue.
 * For further information telephone 436-2582.

ABILITY FUND DRIVE, 1975

The only major fund drive in Canada that is conducted by the handicapped for the handicapped kicked off January 6 with a goal of $100,000. The Ability Fund Drive is held under the auspices of the Canadian Rehabilitation Council for the Disabled and is organized in the Edmonton area by the Handicapped Housing Society of Alberta.
 * All funds raised in a particular area are spent in that area except for a very small percentage which is sent to the national office for the purpose of national advertising, etc.
 * There will be a door-to-door mail drop, a high-rise blitz by 200 physically disabled persons, and a business appeal. Last year's proceeds assisted the physically handicapped in the areas of housing, employment, transportation, information, hand-in-hand assistance, and legislative change.
 * Details of an Open House to be held January 30 and 31 are given in "This Week and Next."

*YOGA CLASSES

The Keep-fit Yoga Club will offer lessons in Hatha Yoga, commencing January 28. The classes will be held in the evenings, every Tuesday for 10 weeks, in the Tory Building. Men and women may register; no previous experience is necessary. For further information call HUBERT DHANARAJ at 439-7897 in the evenings.

GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

Notices regarding other awards and scholarships are posted in the Student Awards Office, 219 Central Academic Building. All inquiries should be directed to L. HENDERSON, Administrator of Student Awards, 432-3495.

British School of Archaeology in Jerusalem Scholarships 1975-76

Jerusalem Research Scholarship. £1,250 is offered for full-time research into some aspect of Levantine archaeology, history, architecture, or epigraphy of any period from the Prehistoric to the Islamic. Applicants are required to submit a summary of their proposed research, which should normally be of post-graduate standard. The research should be of such a nature that residence in Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, or Israel is essential. The scholar will be accommodated in the premises of the School. Travel grant. £400 also is offered to enable a student to participate in the School's excavations or to gain experience in a related field. Short term research projects also will be considered.

Applicants for both awards should be citizens of a country of the British Commonwealth, and for the senior award should be graduates of a university. Applications should state the candidate's age, academic qualifications, and experience and should be accompanied by two references. Applicants may be requested to attend an interview in London in March. Applications should be addressed to the Assistant Secretary, British School of Archaeology in Jerusalem, 2 Hinde Mews, Marylebone Lane, London W1M 5RH, England. They should arrive no later than February 20. Enquiries should be directed to Mrs. C-M. Bennett, British School of Archaeology in Jerusalem, PO Box 19283, Jerusalem, Israel.

Air Pollution Control Association Pacific Northwest International Section

Undergraduate paper competition. An award of $50 will be made for a paper on some topic dealing with air pollution, and may result from special investigations, studies, or readings—provided that the student submitting the paper was a student when the paper was prepared. Papers written as part of course work are eligible. There is a second prize of $25. Graduate paper competition. An award of $75 will be made for a paper on some topic dealing with air pollution, and which is the result of a research investigation conducted by the student or the result of an in-depth library study. The graduate advisor's name may appear as co-author when a thesis is involved, but the paper must primarily be the work of the student. There is a second prize of $25.

In both cases the work must be typed and submitted with two additional copies. The winners will be selected by September 15. The winners normally will be expected to present their papers at the Section's annual meeting, this year to be held November 19 to 21 in Vancouver. The deadline for submission of papers is August 15. They should be sent to PROF. DONALD F. ADAMS, Air Pollution Research, Washington State University, Pullman, Washington, USA 99163. The probable date of the student's graduation must be included. If he will not be at university in the fall his plans must be indicated.

University of Glasgow Scholarship for Advanced Study in Divinity

The University of Glasgow offers one scholarship in the Faculty of Divinity, tenable for two years (with a possible extension to three) from October 1975. Value: £1,000 per annum, with remission of fees, but additional married and children's allowances may be made. Conditions: the scholarship is for a suitably-qualified graduate from a university abroad who proposes to pursue full-time advanced study or research in the University of Glasgow in a subject falling within the Faculty of Divinity. The Scholar will be obliged to reside in Glasgow and to work under the supervision of a professor appointed by the Faculty. Applications will be considered from candidates who hope to obtain their qualifying degrees in time to begin residence at Glasgow in October 1975. Apply by letter to: Clerk to the Faculty of Divinity, University of Glasgow, Glasgow, Scotland giving full and clear particulars of the study proposed and of the previous academic career, with evidence where possible of previous degree or degrees. A candidate also should give the names and addresses of two persons to whom reference can be made concerning his character and academic ability. It is important that candidates should send, to the Clerk to the Faculty of Divinity, details of the results of their final examination as soon as these are known. Deadline for application: March 15, 1975.

Canadian International Development Agency 1975-76 Scholarships

Purpose: to provide opportunities for Canadians to enhance their professional competence in the field of international development assistance. Field of study: programs may be submitted in any area or discipline related to international development assistance. Programs: each applicant is required to develop a program that is related to some specific developmental need or problem and which provides for a substantial period of work, observation, or research in a developing country. The program, which may be of a duration of up to two years, should have a practical orientation and should not be used exclusively for academic or theoretical studies. Each program must be supervised, and the consent of the supervisor must accompany the application. Eligibility: only Canadian citizens who have completed a provincially-recognized post-secondary course of studies are eligible to apply. Since the awards are designed to encourage training for practical careers in development, candidates are expected to provide a clear indication of their intention to either continue or start a career in the international development field. Also, previous experience in regional or international development will be considered an asset. Where tenable: in Canada and/or in developing countries. Studies in another developed country may be approved when the required program is not available in Canada, this fact must be documented by the applicant. Value: up to a maximum of $11,500 per annum. Continuation of the award for a second year will be dependent on satisfactory review. A scholarship winner may not hold any other award or receive any other income concurrently without the consent of CIDA. Selection: offers of awards to selected candidates will be made before May 1, 1975. Awards must be taken up within the academic year in which they are offered. Apply to: Canadian International Development Agency, Scholarship Program for Canadians, Human Resources Division, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0G4. Closing date: completed applications must be received by CIDA by March 1, 1975.

St. John's College, Cambridge Research Studentships

The College invites applications for a number of Research Studentships which are offered to men who are not already members of the College but who propose to register as research students at the University of Cambridge and become candidates for the PhD degree in any subject. Tenure: three years provided academic progress is satisfactory. Candidates will be expected to have gained, or to have a strong prospect of gaining, a first-class honors degree or its equivalent, and election will be contingent upon satisfactory results in such a final degree examination. Value: normally will be such amount as will bring the Student's total emoluments to £980 per annum, in addition to the following payments which ordinarily will be made by the College: approved University and College fees; allowances for dependants; a contribution towards expenses of travel from the Student's home; and allowance for periods of approved postgraduate experience. Financial assistance may also be given towards the costs of field work, attendance at conferences, and other essential expenses. Eligibility: Students will be expected to apply for State Studentships or other research awards for which they are eligible. An unmarried Student can be accommodated in College during his first year of residence and a married Student usually will be offered accommodation close to the College. Enquiries: should be addressed to the Senior Tutor, St. John's College, Cambridge CB2 1TP, to whom completed application forms must be sent so as to reach him by April 1, 1975.

Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation Graduate Fellowship

Value: $5,000; $4,000 to be paid to the successful candidate and $1,000 to the relevant department of the receiving university. Number: one fellowship to be awarded annually. The winner may, on the recommendation of his supervisor, re-apply in the competition the following year. Fields of study: engineering, physics, chemistry, computer sciences, or other courses related to international telecommunications. Where tenable: at any Canadian university or college which is a member, or affiliated to a member of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada. Conditions: candidates must be Canadian citizens or have held landed immigrant status for one year; must be graduates of a Canadian university or college, should have achieved a high level of academic excellence as well as having exhibited superior intellectual ability and judgement; may not hold concurrently any other awards in excess of a total value of $500. Write to: Director of Awards, Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, 151 Slater Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1P 5N1. Closing date: March 1, 1975.

The Steel Company of Canada Limited
